Chuck had an engineering and science background and some interesting past work relationships. He had a unique perspective on some of the phenomenon around that really can throw people off course. But he seemed very focused and knew scripture and had a true heart for Jesus as was evident more than once in his messages. And I'll leave it at that.

If evidence of that truck kit ever shows up I'll let you know lol !

I think he is someone I would have enjoyed meeting. We have some of his books and DVD's.

I would be interested in hearing about it, if you learn more about your truck, or your memory.

If I see the sky is blue, I will say the sky is blue.

If someone else does not see the blue, that is not a problem (except with some job occupations).

When someone says the sky is gray because a giant rabbit made it gray, that is not going to be accepted. It is not truth.

If someone says the effects of a giant rabbit are causing the various effects that are explained IN SCRIPTURE, then also it will not be accepted, and should not be.

If the mandela effect was in harmony with Scripture, with things as God explains them, then it would be okay. The Bereans would test it as they did all messages - even messages from an apostle or from a supposed angel of light, and if it was not in line with Scripture, they rejected it.

Today the Bereans would test , until proven true or false, the statements of the mandela effect, by Scripture.

That is what every believer is called to do.

Since the statements of the mandela effect are real, (or even if they were just imagined), and they are explained in Scripture, it is totally proper to stay with Scripture, and explain the effects as God does.

Interesting guy for sure.

I just scratch my head about the truck. I know I built one, in fact it was the last model I built unpainted and I was ten or eleven yo or so. Well,maybe not the last but it was one of the first that wasn't glue bomb though.

Pounds, not talents? So the pound sterling is part of the 1st century economy now? The King James translators didn't and wouldn't have made that substitution. Of that I'm sure.

I often think of the account of Peter walking on the water with Jesus. As long as he kept his attention on the Lord, he was okay - but when he got distracted by the storm around him, he sank.

Quite a well thought out list there Howard. I do believe we are in the final countdown and the enemy is well aware his time is short and with information flying here and there in nano seconds the race is on to 'beat' out the Holy one, but it won't happen.

But the thing to remember is that we need to get close as we can to our God and Savior as that is the only hope, the more you get to know him the more you won't be deceived.

Talent in Matthew, pound (less than a talent) in Luke.

A "pound" is a fraction of a talent (1/60th?), not £1.

I've found that the changes, no matter what the change, may or may not be a word of equal, lesser, or greater power or value. That's the vexing part of this whole mess.

Speaking of the changes in the Bible, the LORD knew this time would come and when he gave his word way back on the mountain outside of Egypt he gave strict instructions, instructions that Christians for millennia have been disregarding.

This is something that Jews know well though and it is a commandment, Jesus even spoke of it as the Greatest commandment but it has mostly been ignored.

Jesus added a caveat to many of his sayings and it is lost to most gentiles.

He who has ears to hear.....

That is the commandment given way back in Deuteronomy

Shema Israel! HEAR Israel (my people)

This commandment is about hearing, speaking, and Teaching but why? To insert it into the memory banks of your mind and heart so that you won't be deceived when that day comes..

- 1 Now these are the commandments, the statutes, and the judgments, which the LORD your God commanded to teach you, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go to possess it:
- 2 That thou mightest fear the LORD thy God, to keep all his statutes and his commandments, which I command thee, thou, and thy son, and thy son's son, all the days of thy life; and that thy days may be prolonged.
- 3 Hear therefore, O Israel, and observe to do it; that it may be well with thee, and that ye may increase mightily, as the LORD God of thy fathers hath promised thee, in the land that floweth with milk and honey.

That is Moses preamble but now comes the part that is called the 'Shema', and every Jew knows it and did back then when Jesus referred to it. He did not recite the whole thing because it was well known.

- 4 Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God is one LORD:
- 5 And thou shalt love the LORD thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might.
- 6 And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart:
- 7 And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.
- 8 And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thine hand, and they shall be as frontlets between thine eyes.
- 9 And thou shalt write them upon the posts of thy house, and on thy gates.

The part in blue is what Jesus quoted but the rest was known to follow. The rest shows what we are talking about here, basically the prevention against it.

The commands of Gods commands are as follows:

1. HEAR!
2. The words shall be in your heart
3. TEACH them to your children diligently
4. TALK about them when you are
 - In your house, outside your house
 - When you go to bed
 - When you wake up
5. SURROUND your dwelling with the words on the posts and gates

If this is done then no matter what happens it is basically embedded within you and can't anyone change it.

I don't know what you mean by the 'magic crowd' but certainly they are doing things there that shouldn't be done

As far as the Flash, I was referring to the show, which comes from the comic book but what they are showing on the show comes from things happening today. It is the enemies way of pulling in followers and strutting his stuff to show what he's done, making it more mainstream, not just for those who read science journals.

Again, this is a supernatural event, not a natural. I can say that I have never seen unicorn in the scriptures until the past few years. Much less satyr.

I'm not here to debate that, just testify to my own experience.

It's funny I remember as a teen, quite a long time ago, liking unicorns and my mother buying me one as a gift. It was not attached to fantasy but was explained to me that they were in the Bible.

Unicorn simply means having one horn. Now the interpretation of it is of a horse with a central horn in the middle of it's head. But there is nothing that explains it that way, that actually would be a crossing of species which is forbidden by the creator.

Instead I would refer to the Rhinoceros that has 'one horn', a 'uni horn'.

But just to say that I remember it being in the bible over 40 years ago, BUT I remember looking it up in a concordance and it only appeared ONE time, and I seem to recall it was in Psalms, can't remember which one, but I would say it was in Psalms.

The Parson said: ↑

According to scripture we've already shown where he can through anti-Christ, or the spirit of anti-Christ.

Daniel 7:25 And he shall speak great words against the most High, and shall wear out the saints of the most High, and think to change times and laws: and they shall be given into his hand until a time and times and the dividing of time. (KJV)

Times meaning history, and laws meaning scripture. "And they shall be given into his hand" means what???

I've wondered for 30+ years just what that's meant. How does one wear out the saints'?

Howard1955 said: ↑

To me, it looks as if some Power is reaching into the past, and making changes there. The changes then ripple forward through Time, affecting our present reality. (Although... How this could change the geography of the planet, I do not know. But it may be that the QE/ME is a completely separate issue from the geographic changes.)

This power doesn't have to reach back into the past as they have been here before man was created. What I do tend to lean to is the dimension theory, Paul spoke about this in the best way he knew how back then. He called it things like , third heaven, principalities. I think he learned about things that he would rather have not.

No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him who loved us.

38 For I am convinced that neither death nor life, neither angels nor principalities, neither the present nor the future, nor any powers,

39 neither height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord....

Howard1955 said: ↑

But - If this (manipulation of Time) is happening, then the random/trivial changes we are seeing could be the result of that Power simply getting a feel for the controls of the system they're using. Like someone getting into the driver's seat of a car, and fiddling around with the controls to see how everything works.

That's a good thought. Or could be testing the water, we're talking about a lot of people it affecting here, lots at one time with the technology we have today and ease of information.

Howard1955 said: ↑

In bygone days, the re-writing (or copying) and dissemination of a book took a long time. Then, the printing press was invented. Still, it took time to copy - or rewrite - a book.

But now, we can cut-and-paste changes into a written document or book with a few keystrokes. Another press of a button, and the altered

Click to expand...

Yes, as I stated before it was a commandment to really get the word within you, to teach it to your children 'diligently' as this is where the mind and heart are the most susceptible to internalizing things that will later on regulate your life.

It was also known back then as a proverb. 22:6

Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it.

The Parson said: ↑

And we need to quit treating this event as the "Mandela Effect". It's a biblically proclaimed supernatural event and is directly resulting from Daniel 7:25 and Amos 8:11-12 prophecies. Everything that's happening in the world today is because of these prophecies.

That is fine and well for believers but it was a name given so all could understand what was being talked about. Deja vu has been thrown around too much to use that term but it is similar. Using a world figure to coin a phrase is easier for all to know what is being referred to.

Howard1955 said: ↑

I don't know if there are past experiences or traits that cause us to be aware of this Effect.

Have you come across anything in your personal life that has changed?

I have experienced two major ones.

1. Being told a loved one was deceased to later find out (many years later) that they were still alive)
2. Being told by a life long known relative about a huge sum of money being given and not remembering this ever happening. And it wasn't just me, my husband doesn't remember this either.

The Parson said: ↑

Genesis 1:1 In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. (KJV)

- Was heavens plural, not heaven singular.

Yes it says heavens and it still does in the Hebrew

בְּרֵאשִׁית, בָּרָא אֱלֹהִים, אֶת הַשָּׁמַיִם, וְאֶת הָאָרֶץ.

ha-shamayim ==== The heavens

the 'im' ending indicates plurality while this is disputed though when speaking of 'Elohim' vs Eloah.

The Parson said: ↑

Psalms 78:65 Then the Lord awaked as one out of sleep, and like a mighty man that shouteth by reason of wine. (KJV)

- The psalmist is comparing God to a drunk man being woke up.

I'm not so sure that is a change, but rather an interpretation. The Psalmist I believe was trying to use known human traits to get his point across, not to say the Lord was drunk but to envision how one who was 'sleeping it off' awakens with a roar, ready to fight.

The Parson said: ↑

Isaiah 13:21 But wild beasts of the desert shall lie there; and their houses shall be full of doleful creatures; and owls shall dwell there, and satyrs shall dance there. (KJV)

- It was evil spirits, not satyrs.

The Hebrew reads:

But wild-cats shall lie there; and their houses shall be full of ferrets; and ostriches shall dwell there, and satyrs shall dance there.

The word that is translated 'satyrs' is actually 'hairy' but meaning goat or wild goat, specifically a male.

So I don't think it's so much a change but a translation interpretation.

Serious question.

I think something like that depends on fonts used

Although growing up I remember writing it out with two lines.

Thanks in advance for your response.
